Carolyn Ring hurt in one car mishap

Mrs. Carolyn Ring, deputy circuit clerk for Hancock County, is in intensive care at the Gulf Coast Community Hospital today following her involvement in a one car accident near Necaise Crossing on Tuesday evening.

According to investigating officers Paul Bernard and Fairley Necaise, Mrs. Ring was returning home from her work in the courthouse at about 5:45 p.m., when she apparently lost control of her car.

Officers said it appeared the car, travelling north, eased over onto the east shoulder of the road whereupon Mrs. Ring, in a seeming attempt to regain the highway with the car, overcorrected, crossed completely over the hard surface, causing the vehicle to slam into the clay bank on the opposite, or east side.

The victim is reported to have told her daughter that she "blackout" momentarily and did not remember the accident.

Mrs. Ring reportedly sustained multiple fractures to both legs, clipped vertebra, broken ribs, and extensive lacerations.

First taken by Mobile Medic to Gulfport Memorial Hospital she was later transferred to Gulf Coast Community.

by JAKE JACOB
The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has apparently instructed Pascagoula attorney John Hunter to file a brief defending his position in the Jimmy Ray Warner case.

Warner, on July 4, 1969, sustained injuries to the neck following his diving into shallow water off the Municipal Pier.

In May of this year, the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed a judgement of $375,000 made in favor of Warner in a case heard by U.S. District Court Judge Walter Nixon of Biloxi. Nixon had reduced the amount from an original award of $750,000 upon appeal by the city.

Following the incident Warner was paralyzed from the neck down.

The pier concerned was destroyed by Hurricane Camille one month later, in August.

The ruling came at a time when Bay St. Louis was in the midst of changing its form of government and attorneys representing the city indicated that that additional pleadings would probably be made to have the court delay its order's implementation until after this had been completed.

On Thursday, May 19, City Attorney Joseph Gex received a call from a male stating that he was the father of young Warner and he wished to know the procedure to be followed for him to collect a share of the court award.

Gex explained that such funds were payable only in trust to the person named by the court.

Bay schools drop EDA $'s bid for cafeteria

by JAKE JACOB

The Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School District's junior high facility on Second Ave., Bay St. Louis, is to receive a high priority in that city's efforts to obtain new funds.

A joint meeting between the school board and the city administration set aside any bid by the educational group to secure a portion of the $207,000 recently allocated to the municipality by the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for public works.

Under the terms of the grant, the school district must agree to the money's employment. This fact originally gave rise to grave misgivings among city personnel who felt their earmarking of the cash for development of sewer and water systems in the newly annexed area may suffer challenge.

The school system who, like other political entities within the county, is constantly scanning all avenues of approach for construction funds, made suggestion to the city that a section of The EDA allocation be made available to them for use as matching money with the Educational Finance Commission (EFC). The total thus raised would be utilized to build a new cafeteria at the Junior High School.

The problem within the school is that of trying to feed some 450 students in an outdated facility that will only, when completely full, seat 90.

This lack of space, coupled to an inadequate kitchen, has led to the school having to stretch its lunch periods over two hours, sometimes starting as early as 10:30 a.m.

Bennett told the meeting he has "positive" plans to pursue ways of helping the school board obtain funds for construction.

"This cafeteria is desperately needed," the mayor said.

School authorities, faced with a short deadline in the EDA issue, the plans and specifications having to have been ready for presentation by July 13, realized the improbability of their cause and this fact, coupled to another - that of possibly jeopardizing the city's hopes for the EDA loan should they "muddy the waters" - led to the withdrawal of all demands and the issuance of an expression of agreement with city actions, as required by the federal funding agency.

The city had already accumulated the required plans and specifications, including such with their original application.

The new cafeteria is expected to cost around $300,000 with EFC matching funds accounting for about half.

Moore trial awaits defendant, judge rules must hear argument

by JAKE JACOB
Christopher Alvin Moore, 24, is to be brought before Circuit Court Judge Floyd J. Logan in the Hancock County Courthouse, to hear argument concerning a further continuance of his trial on a rape-murder of which he was convicted in October, 1975.

Moore is presently being held in Kennel Middleton, who informed the court that his co-counsel, John L. Carroll and Morris Dees, both at-

Jackson County District Attorney Clinton E. Lockard, prosecuting the case on a charge of venue, said Monday that the state would oppose further postponement as the defendant has been held in jail for more than two years without the benefit of bond and he is entitled to a speedy trial.

He said such is "not only the obligation of the state but also of the defense."

Lockard voiced his objections in response to a request for continuance until October from Defense Attorney

Parsons where he has been incarcerated since his conviction.

Judge Logan indicated he would require some tangible evidence of commitment from Carroll and Dees, both of whom were absent on Monday due, according to Middleton, to transportation problems.

Lockard claimed the attorneys should adjust their schedules to permit trial at this time. He said he anticipated the trial will take some time, an opinion he based on past experience and a hint at some "new matters" (Continued on Page 6)

DuPont contracts with research laboratory for extensive environmental studies of Bay

The DuPont Company has contracted with the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory to conduct an extensive environmental baseline survey of St. Louis Bay prior to completing a new titanium dioxide plant here. The study will begin soon and will be completed in late 1978.

The plant is being built on a 2200-acre to halt DuPont

A federal court lawsuit filed by Save the Bay, an environmental group, in U.S. District Court, Biloxi, seeks to have the permit board of the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission stripped of its granting power and order the Environmental Protection Agency to consider the permit request of DuPont for the disposal of waste discharge.

The group had also sought to block a public hearing set for yesterday and today in Gulfport.

Judge Walter Nixon, in whose court the motion was filed was out of town since Monday and therefore unable to consider the restraining order request.

The board, acting as a judge, will decide whether or uphold the previously issued permit. This permit will allow DuPont to dump 12 million gallons of non-toxic waste into the bay each day, an act the environmental group has stated will be damaging to marine life.

site near the bay. It is expected to begin operations about mid-1979.

Plant Manager Gordon Howell said the study will obtain sufficient data to accurately establish the ecological characteristics of the St. Louis Bay estuarine system before the plant begins production.

Mr. Howell said that this detailed information will provide the company and the community with the knowledge needed to prevent undesirable environmental impacts. He said study results will be shared with local and state environmental officials.

The Gulf Coast Laboratory, located at Ocean Springs, conducted preliminary investigations of the bay for DuPont in 1974. From these preliminary investigations and the laboratory's prior knowledge of the bay, DuPont concluded it could operate the plant without harm to the ecosystem. The company stated, at a public hearing in Gulfport on Dec. 30, 1974, that it intended to have a detailed study of the bay made before the plant was operational, and agreed that optimum timing was for completion shortly before startup.

The study is expected to involve 12 senior scientists, 25 technicians, and other support personnel, and to cost about $750,000. The study will include 12 different fields of investigation, and will be under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Woodmansee.

These study categories will include: a hydrographic survey; free swimming fishes and crustaceans; animals that live at the bottom of the bay; a survey of vegetation and ecological study of tidal marsh and submerged plants; primary bay productivity; solar radiation in plankton and saltmarsh; analysis of chlorophylls, phaeophytin, and dissolved oxygen; microbiology survey; sportfishing analysis; oyster population; nutrients and trace metals; and an analysis of pesticides.

Within the next few months, details of the study will be worked out and special equipment will be ordered. Gathering of field data will begin about October 1977 and continue for a year.

The following specific study information is supplied by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Dr. Harold D. Howse, Director.

Hydrographic Survey: Conducted under supervision of Charles Eleuterius, head of Physical Oceanography Section. This will describe and establish statistically the effects of tides and winds on circulation in the bay. Field work will determine water structure, salinity and temperature regimes, pH regime, dissolved oxygen levels, transparency, dispersion pattern and rate near the plant discharge point, water renewal rate and the current regime for the bay.

Data will be collected for use in calibrating a mathematical model of circulation in the bay.

Investigation of Free-swimming Fishes and Crustaceans:

Supervised by J. Y. Christmas. The bay will be sampled throughout the annual cycle in order to take animals at all stages of their life history. Other physical and chemical data such as

Rail spur building bonds ok'd

Harrison County Supervisors have announced their intention of issuing up to $12 million in industrial revenue bonds next month to finance construction of a 13 mile rail spur to connect the DuPont chemical plant at DeLisle to the Illinois Central mainline at Gulfport.

The rail line will operate at a "common carrier" although initial customer contracts will be limited to DuPont.

The chemical company intends to use the rails for the transportation of large quantities of ilmenite ore, necessary in the manufacture of titanium dioxide. The ore will be arriving at the Port of Gulfport on board ships from Australia.

Additional revenue bonds will be issued by the county for the purpose of acquiring right of way for the spur.

The Illinois Central Gulf Railroad will lease the line from the county for 25 years, the life of the bonds. Lease payments, based on customer traffic volume, will be utilized to retire the bonds with DuPont picking up any difference required, according to the supervisors.

They said Tuesday that if all goes without hitch, the initial construction contract can be let in September or the first part of October.

Sect tax exempt bid postponed to Monday

by JAKE JACOB

The New Talavan Community for Krishna Consciousness, Inc., seeking a tax exemption on some 447 acres of land in the northern part of Hancock County has had its case filed earlier against the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in Circuit Court, postponed until next Monday.

The religious sect were granted such exemption on 10 acres of land last March on a three to two split decision of the supervisors.

The dispute between the county and the sect centers around whether or not their activities are those of a church, or school, or both, or neither.

Supervisor James Travirca, who made the original 10 acre exempt motion, stated the law reads that religious communities or churches should be "granted tax exemption on a reasonable amount" of acreage.

He said, at that time, that in his opinion the 10 acre allotment is sufficient to qualify under this definition.

The Talavan Community had sought exemption on the entire amount based on its being a school as well as a church.

The supervisors said they doubted the school claim due to the fractional number of children at the community, and the fact that the alleged school was not accredited with the state, either with its curriculum or faculty.

Judge Floyd Logan ordered a postponement of the hearings after learning that the supervisors' attorney, Sam Favre, found he had a conflict in dates and could not appear in court. He was represented by his associate counsel, Walter Gex, III.

Attorney Earl Denham of Ocean Springs is representing the New Talavan Community.

Bhakta David Hughes, spokesman for the group, said following the supervisor decision that he feels "the community" is entitled to an exemption on the entire property.

Consolidation is a public issue - Take Two

Consolidation of school districts into one, single unit for the county, maybe as far, or as close, as one year away. A change in circumstance for some dissatisfied with the choices offered their growing children has led to development and apparently soon to be introduced second alternate, that of "mini-consolidation."

Under this proposal students of high school age living outside of the municipalities but south of Interstate Highway 10 would be permitted to attend the Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School District in lieu of their having to be hauled 90 plus miles a day on a round trip to and from their designated "halls of ivy."

This thought was advanced at one county school board meeting by a member of that board. His words were immediately turned back by his contemporaries who quickly indicated the subsequent loss of tax income, average daily attendance rebates and the like, would brood ill for the county system's future.

The issue had been aired however at a session of the county supervisors who indicated that even with the necessity of switching funds from one system to another, or paying tuition for numbers of students, the plan may drastically reduce the need for additional building at Hancock North Central School and seriously reduce the necessity of constructing more school buildings in the west end of the county. This saving, they claimed would more than pay for several years operation of such a plan.

Both school systems are hard pressed for funds, particularly at the local tax level. Even should a bond issue be successfully launched to provide needed building funds, doubt has been expressed that without a considerable increase in tax revenues the county system would be financially able to successfully operate any new schools.

Under present arrangement a student can be released to the "other" system but only on the payment of fees. The county assesses each out of district school attendee some $175, with the cities' district charging $260. Both sums are sufficient to discourage transfer by all but the most affluent or determined.

The "SI-10" idea has merit and forms a pattern much like that of yore. But, it still fails to take the requirements of all the county into consideration.

The political and parental feedback on this subject is encouraging and leads to the belief direction will be afforded the calling of a public meeting concerning this issue.

"Jackson," it has been promised will, for such an event, supply the required expertise.

Today is reprinted the third of four editorials dealing with consolidation. "Opinions" first published last year. CONSOLIDATION IS A PUBLIC ISSUE

Reprint. SEA COAST ECHO
Thursday, March 18, 1976

We have been asked to clarify our stand on consolidation of school systems, illustrating more broadly what such an action involves.

Further, the question has arisen as to whether or not we are trying to "hoist" something onto the county merely in the interests of stirring up an issue.

Before becoming involved in such a controversial topic as consolidation we defined our objectives.

These were - and are, within the scope of public information:

1. To seek a system by which public education within the county can be provided all eligible students while holding the line on school budgets and subsequently - taxes.

2. To extend equal opportunity to these students to obtain a similar education regardless of where they live within our county's confines.

3. To ascertain whether or not the type of education being given our students, on an individual basis, is that best suited for their future.

4. To investigate the feasibility of introducing the 12 month school year - a measure endorsed by Mississippi's teachers.

5. To determine the extent of community involvement now practiced by our schools - both in county and municipal systems.

6. To attempt to relate the proposals of our State Department of Education; the recommendations of the state's superintendents, principals, and teachers, all arising out of related Jackson sessions, as they may affect and apply to this community.

One major facet of our understanding all the advantages and pitfalls of consolidation would be, we feel, to hear from various professionals in this field at public meeting called by our school authorities for this purpose.

And now, we enter back into our opening paragraph.

Consolidation, as we understand it, simply means putting all the schools within the county under one system.

Under this system, a school board, elected from county and municipalities alike would appoint a superintendent, conveying policy and administrative guidelines for his application.

Financing would come from the county at large, based on local taxation derived from an equalized assessment structure.

As an aside, a super-consolidation - not beyond the realms of feasibility, could incorporate the systems of adjacent counties, such as Pearl River.

Elementary and junior high school students would attend the school closest to their place of residence, all at least in the initial stages of their education, receiving similar courses of instruction.

With discusional foundations again originating in state level teacher sessions, we feel that the main advantage of the consolidated system, at least in Hancock, apart from improved school utilization, would make itself apparent at the mid or senior junior high levels.

It is our thought that, regardless of place of abode, students of this county would probably best be served if Hancock North Central High School was transformed into the vocational unit, with Bay Senior High School devoting itself entirely to academic pursuits.

Again, we can foresee the obvious complaints, but ask they be reviewed in light of fact.

Of these complaints probably the only one with any degree of ultimate merit maybe that of transportation distances.

We submit that any distance to be traveled to cater to such a system, with its obvious advantages to all Hancock students, will not exceed that now traveled by the young folk of Pearl River and its surrounds.

We are not calling for a consolidation of school systems.

Instead, we are respectfully requesting the two school boards combine in staging a public meeting to air the advantages and disadvantages of consolidation.

We do not pretend to know all the issues involved but we do feel that sufficient expertise is available to this county for the public to decide.

Two things are at stake.

One is our ability to provide the best education we can to our county's youth, irrespective of their domicile. The second is to provide ways and means of paying for that education.

Consolidation may provide the answers. It has elsewhere. (-J-)

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

Who counts?

The U.S. Census Bureau's new head count of Hancock County has been set at 19,313.

Many will be disappointed with this total, but it is probably as close to being a true figure as possible.

The figure of 19,313 shows the vital influence our weekenders from New Orleans, Hattiesburg, Jackson, etc. have on our local economy.

We are sure there are many weekends when we reach a total of 30,000 or more, especially during the summer months. It is too bad that the U.S. Census takers wouldn't take a visitor count as well as the local residential count.

From what we can gather it is a difficult job to take a true census. We hope that the special census taken in Hancock County was a count of every resident.

The 10 percent increase in population, in a little over seven years, would be welcomed by many counties throughout the nation.

Moore

He also stated numerous other pre-trial motions will be filed.

Middleton, in the meantime, said the defense felt there exists "valid grounds" for appealing the case to the U.S. Supreme Court and that the time for perfection of such an appeal would extend beyond the Hancock County July court term.

Judge Logan declined to hear further discourse until the defendant was in the court room although he did open the door to the possibility of extending the present term of court in order to try the case. Should such action be taken he indicated a suitable period as being between August 22 and the first week in September.

Moore, a black, was charged with and subsequently convicted of the rape-murder of Mrs. Irene Hoffman, a 29 year old, white, Pascagoula school teacher, in her home across the street from the elementary school where she taught.

Her body, according to witnesses, was discovered after she failed to return to school following a break period.

The case, which attracted the attention of a large group of civil rights activists, including the then president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Rev. Ralph Abernathy, was moved to Hancock County on a change of venue motion.

Defense attorneys at that time claimed widespread publicity surrounding the case would prevent Moore from receiving a trial in Jackson County.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officers linked Moore to the slaying through a fingerprint found on an open window, even though he denied being at the residence at any time, and hair samples.

The all-white jury deliberated almost five hours before returning their verdict. They entered the courtroom with solemn expressions and two of their number, both women, appeared to have been crying.

More, upon conviction, was sentenced to die Dec. 12, 1975, but was granted a new trial by the Mississippi Supreme Court after his conviction was overturned by that body on the basis that the mandatory death penalty statute then in effect was unconstitutional.

Rev. Abernathy who was in the courtroom at the time the verdict was read by Circuit Court Judge J. Ruble Griffin, subsequently led a peaceful protest march on Thanksgiving Day from Bay St. Louis to Pascagoula, in an effort to have the case reopened.

Whittlin' with Whittle

James Finch, Commissioner of Public Safety, is issuing a warning to motorists concerning bicycle riders. "Much to the surprise of many people, a bicycle rider has the same 'rights of travel' as an automobile driver does. A bicycle is entitled to the same portion of the roadway as is a motor vehicle and the driver is governed by the same laws that govern the automobile driver."

Finch said, "Some motorists tend to intimidate bike riders when they (the bikers) are on a 30 pound mode of transportation and the automobile driver is behind three or four thousand pounds of metal. For this reason we are reminding motorists that our streets and highways are being converged on by bicyclists and they, according to the law, should be treated with the same respect and given the same amount of street or highway as an automobile driver would be given."

The Commissioner said, "It is the bike rider's responsibility to obey the same laws as does the automobile driver. All traffic regulations including traveling in the same direction as automobile traffic, not using sidewalks and always giving pedestrians the right of way are just some of the laws that should always be observed. For his own safety," Finch said, "the smart bike rider should select a time of day to ride that is not during the rush hour and he should remember that most drivers do not know the 'rights of travel' of the bike rider."

According to statistics, there are over eighty million Americans who ride bikes and almost 95 percent of all bike accidents result in death.

Finch said, "If parents allow their young children to ride bikes and the children do not know traffic laws governing automobile travel, then they are putting the child in jeopardy."

salinity, temperature and dissolved oxygen concentration will be collected with each sample.

Investigation of Bottom Dwelling Animals:

Dr. James T. McBee is in charge of investigations of the animals that live at the bottom of the bay, both in the soft bottom sediments and on top of the sediments. Benthic communities are near the base of the marine food web and also are excellent indicators of environmental change, being unable to move readily in and out of an area as changes occur; but, in spite of their importance, little information is available on them.

Vegetational Survey and Ecological Study:

Through a vegetational survey and ecological study of tidal marsh and submerged plants in the bay, Dr. Lionel L. Eleuterius will document the present status of tidal marshes and submerged meadows. Areas immediately adjacent to the discharge from the proposed plant will undergo intensive study.

Bay Productivity:

Primary productivity in the bay will be determined by an investigation supervised by Dr. Woodmansee, head of the Ecology Section. Production of microscopic plants through photosynthesis which takes place in the water column is a fundamental aquatic process of utmost significance to the food chain. The rate of photosynthesis in the bay will be related to variables in the environment.

Solar Radiation:

Solar radiation in both plankton productivity and salt marsh surveys will be measured over intervals and marsh plant growth estimated.

Chlorophylls, Phaeophytin, Dissolved Oxygen:

Investigations of chlorophylls, phaeophytin and dissolved oxygen analyses, which are required for the plankton productivity phase of the study also will be supervised by Dr. Woodmansee. The laboratory analyses will be conducted after regular hours or on holidays so that the Water Analysis Laboratory can continue to serve the needs of the rest of the staff.

Microorganisms:

Because microorganisms can be a valuable tool in estimating how man has altered an ecosystem, the microbiology survey will use levels of activity and the amount of microorganisms in bay waters and sediments to indicate present pollution. This will establish baseline levels by which to measure future changes. This investigation will be supervised by Dr. David W. Cook, head of the Microbiology Section.

Sportfishing:

A sportfishing analysis will be supervised by Thomas D. McIlwain, head of the Anadromous Fishes Section. Knowledge of the fish catch and fishing effort are needed to assess the influence of fishing and environmental change on fish in the bay. Continuous catch statistics, coupled with biological studies will provide an orderly evaluation of the fishable fish population in St. Louis Bay.

Oyster Reefs:

The area around the mouth of the bay contains some of the largest open oyster reefs on the Mississippi Coast. In view of the importance of the oyster fishery to various local interests, the oyster population will be carefully examined and existing conditions described, including density and size of live oyster, recent mortality, fouling organisms and predators, presence of oyster parasites, spawning and setting of oysters, etc. William Demoran, head of the Fisheries Management Section, will supervise this work.

Nutrients and Trace Metals:

Dr. Thomas F. Lytle, head of the Analytical Chemistry Section, will conduct an investigation of nutrients and trace metals in the bay water, sediments and organisms and a chemical description of the bay will be included as part of the overall study. A comprehensive list of parameters will be measured in the bay, including nutrients in the water column, certain physical characteristics of the water, indicators of biological wastes, heavy metals in the water and in the sediments and resident organisms.

Pesticide Analysis:

The pesticide analysis portion of the study will be under the supervision of Dr. William Walker, microbiologist. Although DuPont does not plan to manufacture or extensively use pesticide chemicals in the operation of the new plant on St. Louis Bay, it is in the best interest of the company to maintain strict surveillance of pesticide chemicals in the environment they plan to occupy.

Harvill outdoors

By Donald Harvill

The salt-water fishing wasn't too good this past week, mainly because of the rain. But the rain should help the fishing in the long run, just as long as it doesn't rain so much that it muddies the water a whole lot. If it rains just enough to cool the water down a little and raise the water level some in the local rivers and ponds the overall fishing scene should improve a good deal.

You'll must have taken my advice and prayed for rain, because we finally got some. Now it is here let's pray for the fish to start biting.

Now that we have come to the time of year when a thunderstorm isn't very far away at any time, you should pay very close attention to weather conditions before taking your boat far from shore. Always check the weather before showing off. Once you get away from land always keep an eye out for building storms. They brew up from almost nowhere sometimes.

All big boat operators are urged to have a little consideration for people that don't. The least that can be done is slow down a bit when meeting a small boat in a bayou or canal, and "give 'em a little room too!"

I've had some dummies nearly wash me into the marsh and try to run over me to boot. When you have a little consideration for the guy in the small boat you're not only doing him a favor, but you're also doing yourself a favor. If someone is ever drowned because a boat was swamped you could be hit with a negligent homicide or manslaughter rap.

I believe that the DuPont project is a slap in the face to all local sportsmen. The Bay of Saint Louis and the rivers and bayous that flow into it

Glaucoma eye test planned

The county health department in Bay St. Louis is now providing a screening program for glaucoma for those persons 65 years of age or older.

Glaucoma is the leading cause of preventable blindness. This condition, which involves increased pressure within the eyeball, will gradually destroy the nerve fibers in the eyes, causing total blindness.

Signs and symptoms suggesting Chronic Glaucoma include the following: Frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory; Inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, such as theatres; Loss of side vision; Blurred or foggy vision; Rainbow-colored rings around lights; Difficulty in focusing on close work.

Here are some points to remember about glaucoma: Is found primarily in people over 35 years of age; Exists for quite some time without symptoms; Can be controlled with proper treatment; Is controlled easier when detected in early stages; Occurs more often in families of people with this disease.

Fortunately, there is a quick, simple, painless testing procedure for glaucoma. Don't neglect your eyes - take advantage of this opportunity.

Testing date will be July 15, from 8:30 - 9:30.

form one of the few and important estuarine systems along the Mississippi Coast. Areas such as this serve as breeding grounds for many species of our sporting fish and for their prey.

Any one that has been fishing in this area for some time should know that the fishing in the Bay has been going down the drain in the last few years. I believe that this is largely due to declining water conditions. I also believe that we should be trying to bring the water conditions in the Bay and surrounds back to what they once were. The only way that we can improve the waters is to stop the dumping of all private and industrial waste into the Bay and the waters that flow into it, and to disallow any further dumping of waste into the Bay St. Louis System.

PEARLINGTON: We had a good weekend. There were a lot of redfish and green trout caught late in the afternoon. The water is still real clear, and the fish seem to be biting pretty good in the river. We had 1 and 1/2 inches of rain Sunday. This should help the fishing a lot. The tide is high most of the day and falls late in the afternoon and rises in the morning. The fishing should be good this week in the evenings from about 3:30 to dark. (Mr. Roy Baxter, Pearl River Marina)

KILN: There hasn't been too much fishing up this way this past week because of the rain. They are still catching some specks at the mouth of the river and in the Bay on live bait. They've been catching green trout in the ponds on live minnows. The ponds are low but the rain should raise the water and bring up the fishing.

One fella caught 15 white perch and 10 green trout at the mouth of Bayou Talla on live river shrimp. We have live shrimp, worms, crickets, and minnows. We also have some fishing tackle. We open at 5:00 and close about 7:00. (Andy's Bait Shop, at Kiln Supermarket)

JOE'S BAYOU: This past weekend was slow, but we had a pretty good day Saturday. People were catching salt water fish on live bait. The rain should be good for the fishing, it should bring the specks down out of the river. The green trout are running pretty good on live bait. Sylvan Carver caught 6 green trout here in the bayou. They all ran about 1 lbs. apiece. Roger Mitchell caught a 38 lb. drumfish up the river this past weekend.

There's lots of good fishing up the river, but I would like to remind all out of state people to buy a Mississippi fishing license before going fishing up the river. (Mrs. Allie Cospelich, Joe's Bayou Marina) ANSLEY: We had a pretty bad day Sunday because of the rain. The tide is now falling in the evenings. There have been no big catches that I know of, there also have been no reports from the marshes.

A Mr. Smith caught some nice specks out of Three Oaks Bayou. We have live bait, rental skiffs and we open at 5:00 every morning. (Mrs. Toxie Hall, LaFrances Fishing Camp)

According to Senior Game Warden, Pat Toomey, you can fish anywhere in the Bay of Saint Louis without a fishing license, as long as you don't go up into the mouth of the rivers and bayous that run into the Bay. Until next week: Let me know about all your big catches, you might even get your picture in the paper.

RACE WEEK - Pass Christian Yacht Club was host last weekend for the Annual GYA Race Week Regatta. Approximately 150 sailboats competed in fourteen classes in the three race series.

Squalls threatened the sailors during most of the weekend. The first race was postponed as squall winds blew in churning up the waters of the Sound sending many of the smaller boats scurrying into the harbor for safety. The winds subsided for the races leaving heavy seas for the sailors to contend with.

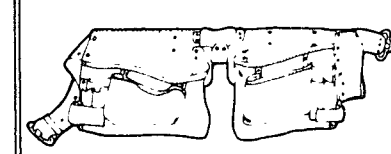

Bay-Waveland's team earned another Capdevielle victory in the GYA Flying Scot Class, as skippers Mac Hadden, Marc Eagan and Chuck Breath each finished second in the three races. Southern Yacht Club tried to dominate the series as their skippers Bobby Schimek and Timmy Maloney won the first two races. Benz Faget of New Orleans Yacht Club won the last race and SYC's fifth place finish clinched the victory for Bay-Waveland. Southern finished second and New Orleans Yacht Club third.

known by either of the appeal courts at the time of their deliberations. Ge' said he had been informed the parents of the deceased had "split up" since the accident.

Attorneys George Morse and Walter

James Phillips both of whom had represented Bay St. Louis at the hearings with the courts of appeal, said at that time that the disclosure of Warner's death was not made at a hearing in March on the appeal.

Attorney Hunter was reported to have said at this time that while he did not know the date of Warner's death, it came prior to the court action.

It was this information which led attorneys Morse and Phillips to appeal to the court for a rehearing on the damages on the basis of the information they felt had been withheld from them and the court.

"It is premature for me to say what the court is thinking but I am pleased that they are aware of the situation and have asked the Pascagoula attorney for an accounting of his position on the case," Phillips allowed newsmen on Monday.

Ex-Mayor Warren Carver of Bay St. Louis was sworn into office just a few days following the incident.

On hearing of the latest appeal's court decision he said, "If Bay St. Louis were not so heavily burdened with long-term obligations, which now exceed $3 million the $375,000 would not be too difficult to handle, but this could mean bankruptcy for us."

"Because of its poor credit rating I am uncertain if the city could raise $375,000 through bond sales without paying an exorbitant interest rate."

"I really believe our only hope is to appeal to the courts to have leniency and give the new group time to deal with this question."

Carver estimated that a two to three mill tax hike for the next 20 years would be needed to pay off the judgement.

"That figure does not include the amount the city will owe in legal fees," Carver concluded.

Incumbent mayor Larry Bennett was out of town on municipal business yesterday and could not be reached for comment.

"For People who Care"

Proposal will be reviewed by MHSA

A proposal to spend funds totaling $341,855 to establish a primary health care clinic in Biloxi will be reviewed by the Mississippi Health Systems Agency, Inc. (MHSA) board of directors July 21 in Jackson.

The agency's 30-member board will meet at 10 a.m. at the Coliseum Ramada Inn. The meeting is open to the public.

The primary health clinic proposal, submitted on behalf of Biloxi Health and Social Services, Inc., seeks approval to establish the primary health care clinic at a cost of $341,855. Funding sources for the program would come from a loan from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and from local sources.

The clinic would employ two family practitioners, three physician extenders, an administrator, a dentist, a dental hygienist, a secretary, a bookkeeper, a clerk, two nurses, a social worker and a janitor.

Dr. Gilbert Mason of Gulfport is the chairman of the 31-member Southern council which develops and implements health care programs for several counties including Hancock and Harrison.

Project Do does (again!)...

One kind act ...

"One kind act is worth more than all the sentiment in the world."

This is the philosophy that 25 Project Do teenagers are following this summer as they take part in two weekly community projects. Following are the names of these volunteers: Leslie Gex, Anne Johnson, Joan Dickinson, Margaret Spotorno, Susan Belsome, Tina Ladner, Sharon Ladner, Robin Roberts, Monda Dickinson, Dorothy Des Angles, Elizabeth Williamson, Kathy Truett, Stacie Comeaux, Terri Wilkinson, Karen Strong, Chrissy Koch, Susan Robinson, Abbie Murtagh, Lisa diBenedetto, Teri Sterling, Melanie Sterling, Anne Johns, Susie Kergosien, Kim Tabary, and Edgar Santa Cruz.

Every Wednesday morning at least ten of the above young people visit the old folks at the County Home. While there they conduct the weekly bingo games for the eight residents. Prizes for the games are provided by a twenty-dollar monthly fund from the county and a monthly ten-dollar donation from Our Lady of the Gulf church.

In the afternoon on the same day ten to twelve volunteers host students from the Silver Creek School for the Developmentally Delayed at the St. Stanislaus pool. On a one to one basis under the direction of Brother Albert Ledet, water safety instructor, and Brother Canisius Schell, Project Do director, the Silver Creek students are taught various water skills. Four of these taking part in the above activities have received Red Cross beginner's swim certificates.

The purpose of this particular program is to teach the handicapped children to love the water and to enjoy it to their fullest potential.

Both of the above programs started in the first week of June and will go on through the first week of August.

TIME TO LEAVE! Chrissy Koch and Teri Sterling help Janet Mauffray get ready to return to Silver Creek School. Brother Canisius, Project Do director and Miss Miller, Silver Creek teacher, stand by to give assistance.

Pesticide applicators training session set

Farmers and homeowners in Hancock County who use restricted-use pesticides must be certified by the Division of Plant Industry, Mississippi Department of Agriculture, by October 21, 1977, according to John W. Smith, County Agent.

Certification is required by the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act as amended in 1972, he explained. To help applicators prepare for certification, the County Extension Office will offer a free training session Thursday night, July 21, 1977 at the Agriculture Center Building, 405 Necaise Ave., Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, starting at 7:00 p.m. Persons who expect to participate in the session should contact the county agent's office for information and instructional materials.

To become certified, applicators must show that they can recognize common pests and pest damage, apply pesticides in accordance with label instructions and know good pesticide practices. After training, private applicators will be certified by the Division of Plant Industry.

Have You Moved

Since you can burn even through a dark tan...you have to use good judgement. We've found that you should at least use rich moisturizers found in tanning butters (they don't have any sunscreens). Or use dark tanning oil or lotions to let you get a deeper tan and keep your skin soft and supple.

State gets $40 million for highways

Senior Citizens happenings

BY FRED HORN

Thanks to all the Senior Citizens who attended our monthly games on Monday, July 11th. Approximately 90 seniors participated. It was gratifying to all of us at the Center and a compliment to all of the Volunteers who helped to make this event an afternoon of relaxation. The telephone committee members are Mrs. Ginger Horn, Eva Ruhr, Ada Schaeffer, Cecile Gullivan, Hilda Seguin, Harlan Watkins, Marie Longo, Elma Joubert, Barbara Sick and Esther Cuevas. The ladies who baked the cakes are Mrs. Georgiana Dudenhefer, S.J. Paulina, Carrie Williams, Bea Favre, J.P. Cousins and Annie Sulzer.

The ladies who served refreshments consisting of ice tea and cakes were Mrs. Georgiana Diebold, Georgiana Dudenhefer, Ethel Dornmain and Julia Leddy, also Archie Diebold and Rufus Peirce, who were in charge of the games.

It takes 100 percent team work to make any form of recreation successful.

A special vote of thanks to all of our R.S.V.P. members mentioned above, for the time and effort put into this program. We in the recreation department salute you.

The following seniors who won prizes for the various games are - Albert Jones, Jewell Stratton, Eva Ruhr, Celine Fairconeture, Hilda Sequin, Milton Inch, Marie Taconi, Lucy Guagliardo, Harriet Jordan and Frank Carter.

The last game won by Mrs. Birdie Delas, who celebrated her 87th birthday last week. It was a dozen American Beauty Roses donated by the Flower Shop, Highway 90, Bay St. Louis. Congratulations and Happy Birthday Birdie.

The door prize, compliments of Lil Rays was won by Angelo Guillino.

We wish to thank the following merchants who contributed gifts for our July Games: Dave McDonald, Fahey Drug Co. Western Clothing Store, Highway 90, Lusich's Dept. Store, W.A. McDonald & Sons, Mauffray's Hardware, Phillips 66 Station, Highway 90, Sears Roebuck & Co., and Brewster's Jewelry Store, Waveland, and Lil Rays.

GOSPEL SINGING

One of the most active groups in the senior citizens center are our Gospel Singers, consisting of all Seniors most of whom are from the Day Care center for Senior Citizens. The singers are from all walks of life, none are professional singers. One would not know that, by the expressions and heartfelt feelings they put into each song.

All are RSVP members led by Charles Johnson, RSVP Staff Member, who directs them. Charles is quite an accomplished singer, and has a fine Tenor voice. Need I say more about our Gospel Singers - they entertain each Wednesday from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Gulfview Haven Nursing Home, plus other engagements from time to time.

KILN

The Senior Citizens held their July Birthday Dinner and games at the V.F.W. Hall on Thursday, July 7th at 12 noon. There were 35 seniors present. Everyone enjoyed the cold plate luncheon, homemade cakes and punch after their games.

The next games followed by refreshments, will be on Thursday, July 21st at the V.F.W. Hall at 12 noon.

SENIORS in that area PLAN to make the two events each month. This is your chance to relax and have an afternoon of good entertainment.

PEARLINGTON

The "now" look is the healthy, bronzed glow you get from a summer in the sun. But even tanned skin is subject to burning. Moisturize and protect every step of the way. And pay particular attention to areas that are not ordinarily exposed to the sun: shoulders, back of the neck, top of the ears and nose, the lower lip...even the back of your knees and your instep. A little care during the day, and come evening, you'll be tan and comfortable.

ASCS reports

ASCS REMINDS LOCAL FARMERS TO REPORT THEIR CROP ACREAGES

Farmers who have planted corn, grain sorghum, barley, wheat, rice, cotton or peanuts should report their acreage to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) by August 1, 1977.

So far 90 farmers in Pearl River County and 16 farmers in Hancock County have reported their plantings. Farmers who have planted acreage in 1977-crop wheat, corn, grain sorghum or barley, and fail to report such acreage may be ineligible for program benefits in 1978.

According to proposed legislation, if the Secretary of Agriculture declares a set-aside for 1978 crops, 1977 planted acreage could be used to determine set-aside requirements.

ASCS employees will make random checks of farms to verify that acreage reports are accurate.

Information on social security

ESTIMATING YOUR RETIREMENT CHECK

"How much will my social security check be when I retire?" is one of the questions that I most often get. Most of the time I refer the person to the leaflet "Estimating Your Social Security Retirement Check," according to William D. Gladden, social security district manager in Gulfport.

Actually, your exact monthly payment cannot be figured until you apply for social security. That's because your social security payment is based on your average earnings over a certain period of years. Your earnings up to the time you retire are considered, so anything figured before then can merely be an approximation.

The leaflet, "Estimating your retirement check," gives you a close estimate of what your retirement check will be if you are going to retire this year. But, if your retirement is some years away, it's likely that future benefits will be higher than the leaflet shows. This is because social security payments will increase automatically as the cost of living goes up. And, since there's an automatic increase in the amount of earnings that count for social security monthly payments in future years can be based on higher average earnings. The most recent automatic benefit increase started with checks delivered in July 1977, and the benefit figures in the leaflet reflect that increase.

The leaflet gives a step-by-step method you can use to figure your social security payment.

For example, you may think that since you have always earned the maximum amount covered by social security you will get the maximum benefit payable. This isn't so. The maximum amount of earnings covered by social security was lower in past years than it is now. Those years of lower covered earnings must be counted in with the higher covered earnings to figure your average earnings. Your monthly payment is based on your average earnings over a period of years.

If you've paid social security contributions on the maximum covered earnings since the program started, you would have paid a total of $8,688.40 by the end of 1976. If you retire at age 65 in 1977, your monthly payment would be about $437.10. This means you would get back as much as you paid in taxes in less than 2 years.

The average retirement benefit paid to a worker who retires in 1977 at age 65 is $234. A minimum benefit of $114.30 is paid to workers who retire at 65 after having worked long enough under social security.

Your family would also be eligible for payments on your work record, without reducing your own benefit.

More and more people are retiring earlier—at age 62, instead of 65. The benefit amount is reduced by 20 percent if you retire at age 62, but, of course, chances are you'll be receiving the money over a longer period of time.

If you want to estimate your retirement payment, call 898-1323 and we'll send you a copy of the leaflet, "Estimating your social security retirement check."

If you want to apply for social security benefits, call, write or visit the office at Gulfport. If you come to the office, you should bring with you your Form W-2 for last year or a copy of your last Federal income tax return if you're self-employed and your social security card or a record of your number; proof of your age—birth certificate or a baptismal certificate made at or shortly after birth if you have one; your marriage certificate if you're applying for wife's or widow's benefits; and your children's birth certificate if you're applying for them.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McLemore of Bay St. Louis announce the birth of their second child and first son, Donald Alan, July 7 at Slidell Memorial Hospital, Slidell, La., weighing seven pounds, six ounces.

Mrs. McLemore is the former Nelda Wedgworth, daughter of Mrs. Earline Dearman of Hattiesburg, and the late P. M. Wedgworth.

J. H. McLemore of Seminary is the paternal grandfather.

In the 18th century, sugar was such a rare and highly prized commodity it was included in a list of jewels and precious gems presented as wedding gifts to Maria Theresa, the future Queen of Hungary and Bohemia.

Home Economist notes

By Norine Barnes

OPEN DATE IS CONFUSING. "Open dating" of food packages has most grocery-buying shoppers confused.

Although it's most helpful to store personnel in rotating stock, you can use it as a guide when selecting an item and when rotating items at home. Dates stamped on food packages can mean one of four things:

- (1) Pack date, or date of final processing or packing;
- (2) Pull Date, the last recommended day of retail sale that allows enough time to safely store and use the product at home;
- (3) Quality Assurance Date, or freshness date, the date after which the product is not likely to be at peak quality; and
- (4) Expiration Date, the last day the product should be used to assure quality.

Determining which one of these four explains the date on a particular package is usually a matter of guess work unless your grocer explains them to you.

Unless a processor is packaging meats, poultry or fish under federal inspection, he is not required to explain his method of open dating. In fact, a USDA survey recently disclosed that almost all open dates are not explained.

The quality of the food and its freshness are more dependent on its storage and handling than on just elapsed time. If the good item you buy has not been kept to the proper temperature before or after you buy it, chances are it will not measure up to your expectations, regardless of the date on the package.

A REAL GOOD MEAT DISH
Beef Kabobs are special. Select any tender beef cuts for Kabobs. Sirloin is a good choice since you can easily cut into 1 1/2 inch cubes.

You'll find three types of sirloin in most stores - the pin bone, the flat bone and the wedge bone.

The pin bone lies closest to the short loin; the flat bone with its long, slender bone is in the middle of the sirloin section; the wedge bone is next to round steaks. Any of these are excellent for Kabobs.

Cook potatoes in advance and heat on grill or slice potatoes with onions, butter, season with salt and lemon pepper Marinade and cook in aluminum foil packet on grill. Allow twice as long for potatoes to cook as for kabobs.

SIRLOIN - PEPPER KABOBS

2 to 3-pound beef sirloin steak, cut 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches thick
1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon onion powder
2 sweet red or green peppers, cut into 1 1/2 inch square pieces.

Remove bone and cut steak into 16 to 20 cubes. Combine oil, lemon juice, salt, paprika, dry mustard, sugar and onion powder. Add marinade to beef cubes. Cover and refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Alternate meat cubes with pepper squares. Place on grill when coals are covered with gray ash. Grill 12 to 17 minutes, turning occasionally, until browned. These kabobs can also be cooked indoors in the broiler. (4 servings)

County Agent's report

By John Smith

REPLANT GARDENS

Replant empty garden rows during July. Okra, tomatoes, butter beans and peas planted this month will provide a second crop. Tomato plants set now should produce until frost, provided they are sprayed to control diseases and insects. A second planting of okra will supply tender okra when the first planting becomes unproductive.

Many other vegetables can be planted later. Gardening can be a year 'round activity.

WATER IS ESSENTIAL

Water is an important part of a hog's diet. Plenty of fresh, clean water is necessary during summer. The amount of water needed by a hog varies with the temperature, salt content of the animal's feed and other factors. A general rule is that water intake should be two to two and one-half times the feed intake.

During the hottest days of summer, a 120-pound hog needs about 24 pounds of water daily. A nursing sow should have 40 to 48 pounds of water daily during hot weather.

AVOID DAIRY SLUMP

When temperatures hit the high 90's, dairymen sometimes experience a summer slump in milk production. To avoid this situation, give cows the best temporary grazing possible. Grazing two hours early in the mornings and late in the evenings is ideal.

If you keep cows on pasture all day, be certain they can find shady areas. Graze unshaded pastures only at night. Provide cows with plenty of fresh, clean water. They should have access to water at least four times each day. Following these suggestions will help keep milk production up.

CONSERVE FUEL

Good management practices can help reduce the amount of fuel used during row crop cultivation. Cultivation is relatively light power operation, so throttle the engine back and shift into a higher gear while cultivating. Keeping the cultivator in good operation will help conserve fuel also. Make certain proper row alignment is maintained.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

BY LEIGH KOHNKE

The sound of blue grass penetrated the park Friday night as Bunk Caldwell and his group as well as the Moran Family entertained over 100 good timing spectators. The music must have also appeased the rain gods because the long awaited drops fell and were greatly appreciated.

Saturday a bike rodeo was scheduled including races of skill, stunts, relays, and obstacle courses. In the 9-12 year old division, Larry Givens, 11, of Pearlport took top honors followed by Linda Richard, 10, of Harahan. In the 13-17 age group, Frank Sinopoli, 13, of Chalmette was the winner, with Kevin Pitre of Chalmette following a close second.

Saturday night gave all tennis enthusiasts a chance to show their skill. Dean Collier of Waveland stole first place in the under 15 division. In the 16 and over group, Gene Conaway of New Orleans, was the champ.

Sunday a shuffleboard match for the younger set was won by the team of Linda Richard and Tara Mansur, while Larry Givens and Kevin Pitre ranked second. An afternoon of fun in the shade was provided by a horseshoe tournament. Stan Lowland of New Orleans, was the lucky winner with Fritz Grannan, also of New Orleans placing a strong second.

This Friday night everyone is invited to a movie in the Rec Hall at 8:30 p.m. The movie, entitled "Willie Mays Talks Baseball" demonstrates the basics of the game to several young players, covering correct techniques for hitting, catching, fielding, throwing and bunting. An excerpt from a television special, this film won a Bronze Award in the 1974 New York International Film and Television Festival.
